

ABSTRACT

A descrambler adapted as an integrated circuit (IC) according to one embodiment. The descrambler comprises a control word ladder logic to produce, among other data, a control word to descramble incoming scrambled content. 5 The descrambler further comprises copy protection key ladder logic to recover a copy protection key for encrypting descrambled content before subsequent transmission to a digital device.